Geordie Consulting

Geordie Consulting was founded in 2020 to help companies to maximise the value they get from their data. Every platform that companies use today offers analytics, but all these are separate and do not communicate across the whole landscape of those using them. This leads to a disjointed data landscape the encourages siloed working practices and a closed Data Culture. Microsoft Power BI allows a business to draw all their data together into a single cohesive platform. By spanning the breadth of the company data is found to be more valuable than previously thought, by utilising the capabilities of Power BI the full value of the data can also be extracted in ways that just would not have seemed possible before. The creation and dissemination of analytics using a deliberately small number of Semantic Models across the company.

The establishment of a Data Centre of Excellence mentality facilitates the management and maintenance of your Semantic Models and their supported shared data pipeline allows your company to manage the flow of data into the BI platform. This empowers you to make better, data centric decisions. Hypothesis can be generated, success factors for initiatives prepared and implemented to then be seamlessly tracked.

Geordie Consulting will be right there by your side, initially we typically undertake the majority of the activities for clients, but our team will support the learning and development of your teams, making sure they are trained in the use of the technologies you have selected, not just the industry recommended and recognised Microsoft Certifications, but also the extended (and more important) real world experience.

The result of this is the transition from siloed working to a more democratic way of working where data is accessed by many across the company rather than everyone creating and managing their data extracts. This application of standards leads to new ways of working with people no longer in conflict. Data is prepared and is made available using agreed defined standards and all are then able to utilise the insights to determine the plans and structures required by Continual Improvement.

This process is often referred to as the Democratisation of Data and it is a landmark step in the breaking down of the data silos that exists across many businesses. The cost effective access provided by Power BI makes it incredibly easy to ensure everyone has access to the data and insights that they not only need to complete their role, but also to identify risks and opportunities, because everyone in your company can see and identify problems, by giving them the tools to show this as an opportunity you change the discussion to focus on the benefit to your business.

Be more Geordie

In the North-East of England we believe in Collaboration. In the North-East, our people and companies get stronger by helping each other. Bringing that collaboration into the heart of your Company Data Culture will transform your Company. A healthy data culture is at the heart of a great Corporate Culture. Much of the conflict within an organisation comes from variations in reports, how data is processed and the – perception – of assumption. Bring you teams together by standardising the numbers, then they are more able to address challenges within the data and celebrate where things are performing as expected.

The standardisation of ETL (Extract, Transform, Load) scripts nurtures a more open and data-aware business culture, with consistent data handling procedures, employees become more confident in the integrity of their data sources. This trust in data promotes transparency and collaboration, enabling teams to address challenges collectively and celebrate successes based on reliable data. This standardisation facilitates seamless integration and analysis, paving the way for informed decision-making and strategic planning. The ripple effect of employing standardised ETL scripts is profound. It leads to the harmonisation of data across departments, reducing discrepancies and fostering a unified understanding of business metrics. This cohesive data landscape empowers analysts and decision-makers to draw more accurate insights, driving performance improvements and innovation. This is the data driven excellence that businesses aspire for and is the core function of a Data Centre of Excellence and the reason we promote this method of delivery and growth.

Select Geordie Consulting as your strategic partner to ensure your company confidently addresses challenges, implements effective strategies, and realises sustainable growth. Sample our Work

Newcastle parkruns

Across Newcastle there are multiple parkruns (free weekly 5km event). This was used as an example of how data models expand over time to start to deliver many more insights than were initially planned. From a single spreadsheet this solution pulling together over 1000 spreadsheets of data evolved. The solution now runs and imports new runs each week adding them into the model and making them available. Suddenly what was a record of a single day evolved to become a tracker of everything for a single event (think Store or site or specific product), to now covering multiple Events. We build our data solutions to be scaled further and extended by you. Your data solution should not be your limiting factor!

England Food Hygiene

All food establishments within England must be registered with the Food Standards Authority and will be periodically inspected. The Food Standards Authority give them a rating out of five and these ratings must be displayed within the establishment. This was built to show how easy it is to ingest data into Power BI and then utilise it quickly and easily.
